

Oxford handbook of Rehabilitation – New edition – 2019

The much awaited 3rd edition of the Oxford Handbook of Rehabilitation Medicine has been published by Oxford University Press (OUP). This new edition tries to comprehensively cover the widest possible syllabus of topics in rehabilitation medicine and has 14 new chapters added to the previous edition. It brings together brand new editors and authors from across the continents from diverse professional backgrounds in rehabilitation. The handbook is primarily aimed at RM physicians but will prove useful to other members of the MDT team. Sivan, Phillips, Baguley and Nott are the editors and foreword has been written by O'Connor. Chapter contributions have come from Ashford, Barden, Clough, D'Souza, Dalal, Edwards, Evans, Flynn, Graham, Howle, Phuah, Yee Sien, Smith A, Smith M. Sproats, Taylor and the editors.

Further details on the handbook can be found at

<https://global.oup.com/academic/product/oxford-handbook-of-rehabilitation-medicine-9780198785477>

Manoj Sivan